Week 5 was super...

Week 5 at Camp Morasha was marvelous! From Sundaes on Mondays, to the 3-on-3 tournament, it was another fun week!

Everyone was curious about July 26th since we received the calendars in the mail. Once again, Camp Morasha came together for a campwide themed night: Morasha Marvel. At dinner, campers found out about the theme and their tasks. Six superheroes were captured and campers had to save them from the mighty Thanos. Campers went back to their bunks after dinner to find a comic book with instructions on how to save their Avenger. Each bunk was assigned a superhero to save by completing tasks that related to their superhero. Activities included, Captain America shield throwing, Spiderman web shooting and Hulk smashing. At each station campers collected "infinity stones" and combined their totals to see which superhero won. Hulk was the winner and was successfully saved from Thanos!

We said goodbye to our first monthers and welcomed our second month friends. Everyone enjoyed spending time together with their new friends at the carnival on Changeover Day.

Thursday Machzor Bet campers went to the Orange County Fair for Machzor Bet Madness, and had an early dinner at Woodburne.

Congratulations to our OSG/Ilanot girls, Ilanot boys, and Manhigim basketball teams on winning the Wayne County division championships!

We are looking forward to welcoming our visitors on Sunday and an awesome Week Six!

Parsha Thoughts... Tyler Hod

"If we look at the order in which the daughters of Tzelafchad are listed here we will notice that it's not in the same order as in the earlier parsha when they first stood before Moshe.

Rashi answers this question and tells us that here the Torah tells us that they got married in order of age, and they are listed from oldest to youngest, while in Parshas Pinchos they were listed in order of wisdom, with the wisest being first and so on. Rashi concludes that the Torah varies its approach to tell us that all the girls were truly equal.

How do we understand this? If some were truly wiser than the rest that how were they equal?

Some say that there are two ways of ranking a person, either by age or by wisdom. Thus in this family the older girls weren't the brightest, while the younger ones were actually smarter than their elders. Therefore it all equals out...

But the truth is that true greatness has nothing to do with wisdom, kishronos, are a gift from Hashem, and what truly makes a person great is how they work on themselves and grow with what Hashem gave them.

Therefore while it's true that they stood before Moshe in order of intelligence but this does not reflect their level of greatness, and indeed when it came to true greatness, they were all equal."

Spotlight on Senior Staff...Adam Ouerbach

Q: What do you do during the year?

A: I graduated from Yeshiva University in May and I am starting Cardozo Law school in the fall.

Q: Why did you decide to come to Camp Morsasha this summer?

A: I have been coming to Camp Morasha my whole life and what better way to spend my last summer before law school??

Q: How do you feel about your campers being your counselors?

A: I love seeing how much they have grown up, how they matured, and taken on leadership roles. I enjoy spending time with them now as staff members. Sometimes I wonder how they became such good counselors, they probably had a good role model to look up to ;)

Q: What is it like being a division head with your brother?

A: We have different strategies but any manhigim camper will tell you I am better than my brother so I guess it's working ;)

Q: What is your favorite camp food?

A: Fried chicken

Q: What is your go to flurry?

A: Caramel brownie

Q: What was your favorite event this summer?

A: Olympics

Q: What is something people do not know about you?

A: I can't ride a bike
