Week 6 was Super...

This past week was filled with competition, fun, excitement and concluded with meaningful Tisha Bav programming.

Sunday, we enjoyed seeing our parents, siblings and even some pets!

Morasha families loved spending time with their campers and participated in camp activities. We were sad to say goodbye to our visitors but excited about the week ahead! The festivities began for Superbowl Monday and Bunk Wars right away with football competitions and Minute to Win It! Monday, the boys competed in a campus-wide football tournament while girls campus competed in Bunk Wars and Machzor Bet Color War.

Tuesday night, the Ilanot and Machzor Bet participated in night intercampers and enjoyed spending time with their friends from Seneca, Neshet, Mesorah and Lavi. Wednesday, Machzor Aleph spent the day earning "money" to bid in the Bunk Bids auction later that evening. Meanwhile, Machzor Bet tested their limits at Fear Factor and were challenged to complete in a variety of activities and events.

This week the Nitzi & Younger Shtili Girls got to show off their talent as they performed step routines at the annual "Camp Morasha Step Off". Campers came dressed up and ready to perform their routine in Studio 4. Campers have worked hard and practiced their step routine for weeks.

Congratulations to G11 and on their victory!

On Thursday, Morasha set the tone for Tisha B'av with the Nine Days Show: "In Every Generation." This production was a reminder of Jewish persecution and hardships we face in every generation, including our own from within. Campers debriefed with their Chinuch Heads after viewing the show, and reflected on their experience.

Wishing everyone a restful shabbos and hope everyone has an easy and meaningful fast!

Parsha Thoughts...Gavi Katz (B12)

The Pasuk teaches us that "you should not show favoritism in judgment..." Rashi explains that this Pasuk is speaking to judges, saying they must treat small and great alike. Small and great can either be referring to small and great amounts of money, or it can be referring to people of either small or great importance. Whether the court case is about a small amount of money or a great amount of money, or whether it involves people of (seemingly) lesser importance or greater importance, you must treat the case, and the people, equally.

Rabbi Heber says that this lesson can be applied to everyday life as well, teaching us to treat even small amounts of money as valuable and to treat even people of (seemingly) little importance with dignity. Once, the Chafetz Chaim wanted to write something down so his students brought him a piece of paper. The Chafetz Chaim was concerned that the owner had not given permission to use his paper and therefore the piece of paper was stolen. Because of this, the Chofetz Chaim refused to write on the paper until he gave the owner a few cents to pay for it. Those around him asked, "the owner won't really mind if you just take one piece of paper, why be concerned and not use it right away?" the Chafetz Chaim answered that even if only a few cents were stolen, that Aveira could create an angel with the destructive power strong enough to turn over all the walls of the city! We just finished the three weeks and during the three weeks, we reflect on how we treat our friends and whether we are doing our best to bring Mashiach closer to us. In the same manner, we should also be aware of how we treat our friends' money. Do we use things that do not belong to us without permission, thinking that the owner doesn't mind anyway? Are we careful when we borrow an item to make sure it does not get damaged? This week, let us all think about treating the money of our friends with care and more importantly, our friends themselves. And with this, we will be able to build the third Beit Hamikdash!

Spotlight on new Senior Staff... Avital Hod

Q: What do you do during the year?

A: I just completed nursing school and passed my nursing boards

Q: Why did you decide to come to Camp Morasha this summer?

A: I was here as a camper and counselor and it was always my dream to come back. It is unclear in the Hod household who Morasha wanted more for this summer-but we will leave it at a tie.

Q: Describe all your jobs in camp and what you enjoy the most:

A: I teach shiur, teach barre classes as part of the fitness program, and organize activities for speciality staff. I love that I am involved in so many different aspects of camp and have the opportunity to see every camper from day camp through Yachad. The speciality staff Friday night dinner is fun and where I get to see all of the frontline speciality staff. One of my first years on staff, I was a part of speciality staff, and I remember needing someone to be there for me and happy to be supportive to them.

Q: How do you create your barre classes?

A: I took barre classes in the city when I was in college and had to continue on my own during COVID. I create classes that work on core and strength as a part of the fitness program in camp.

Q: What was your favorite event this summer?

A: Joey Newcomb concert

Q: What is your flurry order?

A: PB and rainbow sprinkles (obviously out of camp)

Q: What is something people do not know about you?

A: I ran a half marathon and didn't stop to walk
